

WILSON'S NOTE TO GERMANY WILL BE CABLED BY TUESDAY

ONLY REASON FOR DELAY IS PRESIDENT'S DESIRE TO MAKE PHRASEOLOGY SO EXPLICIT AND UNMISTAKABLE SO AS TO LEAVE NO ROOM FOR DOUBT.

IT MAY PAVE WAY TO PEACE

Exchange of Notes With Germany and Possibly With Great Britain Is Looked Upon as Entering Wedge for Settlement of European War Troubles.

Washington, June 6.—President Wilson's note to Germany will be cabled to Ambassador Gerard Monday night or early Tuesday, according to word from the white house tonight.

The only reason for the delay, it was said, was the president's desire to make the phraseology of the note so explicit and unmistakable as to leave no room for doubt or further argument concerning the position of the United States government, that the right of visit and search must be exercised and passengers and crews of unarmed ships on which neutrals are voyaging transferred to a place of safety before any prize is destroyed by a belligerent warship. Officials familiar with the contents of the note said it was a forceful reiteration of the principles expressed by the United States in its note of February 10 when the American government announced it could not admit the right of the German admiralty's proclamation of war zone to infringing in any way upon the right of neutrals to travel anywhere on the high seas on peaceable merchantment and that the German government would be held to a "strict accountability" for any violation of American rights.

Suggestions have been made to the president that the recent note from Germany offering regrets and reparation for the torpedoing by mistake of the Lusitania be cited in the new note as proof of the American contention that without visit and search the identity of a vessel cannot be established and the lives of neutrals safeguarded. The commander of the German submarine which attacked the Lusitania reported that he did not see the American flag "until the moment of firing the shot." Whether this idea will be included is not known. There may be some further discussion of the document with legal officers of the government tomorrow but it is expected to be put in cipher and sent on its way to Berlin tonight.

The belief is constantly expressed in German quarters that the crisis over the Lusitania case has passed. It is frequently pointed out too that the present crisis over neutral rights may lead to a discussion of the general subject of the freedom of the seas and some German officials have suggested that out of the exchange of notes with Germany, a reply probably will require a week's time at least and would not be here in Washington much before June 20. Count von Bernstorff plans to go to Cedarhurst, L. I., during the coming week. He has removed the embassy to summer quarters as have many of the other embassies and legations.

German officials here estimate that if the American note is cabled on Monday or Tuesday, reaching the Berlin foreign office not later than Thursday a reply probably will require a week's time at least and would not be here in Washington much before June 20.

Count von Bernstorff plans to go to Cedarhurst, L. I., during the coming week. He has removed the embassy to summer quarters as have many of the other embassies and legations.

Fort Worth Man Is Electrocuted and 2 Others Shocked

Fort Worth, June 6.—C. Gilbert Danner, 23, was electrocuted, his father-in-law, Peter T. Skidmore badly shocked and Dr. S. A. Lundy also shocked here tonight while engaged in preparing their evening meal. Because of the existing gas famine the men were cooking in an outhouse over a laundry stove.

Skidmore came in contact with a wire which had become crossed with a heavily charged trolley wire and Danner lost his life attempting to detach his unconscious body. Dr. Lundy likewise was shocked severely before succeeding in freeing Danner and Skidmore. A pulmotor was used successfully in an attempt to revive Danner.

RUMANIANS WOULD JOIN WITH ALLIES

GREAT DEMONSTRATION IS HELD AT BUCHAREST—30,000 TAKE PART.

Speakers Eulogize Italy for Entering the War—Executive Committee Meets.

London, June 6.—Reuter's correspondent at Bucharest telegraphs that a great demonstration was held there today in favor of intervention by Rumania in the war in support of the allies. About 20,000 persons marched in procession with flags flying and bugles sounding to the Italian legation. There speeches were delivered eulogizing Italy for entering the war. In the afternoon partisans of Alexander Maricholoman, the conservative leader, together with socialists, organized a counter demonstration. At a meeting of the executive committee of the conservative party the attitude of M. Maricholoman in favor of Germany was discussed. After a long debate the majority condemned his leadership of the party. M. Maricholoman thereupon left the meeting followed by his supporters.

A meeting of the whole party has been called for tomorrow under the presidency of Jean Lahovary, who represents the wing of the party which is favorable to the allies.

Condition of King Constantine Serious

London, June 6.—The condition of King Constantine of Greece is described as extremely critical in a Reuter dispatch from Athens, filed at 11 o'clock this night. It was said anxious crowds were surrounding the place.

Telegrams received at the Greek legation from Athens filed several hours in advance of the Reuter dispatch were more reassuring. One of these messages timed 7:30 p. m. yesterday, stated that the condition of the king was "not immediately dangerous." An earlier telegram described the operation performed yesterday on the king as "serious, but successful."

Bulletin From Athens. Athens, June 6.—An official bulletin issued at 7 o'clock this morning states that King Constantine's temperature at that hour was 104.18; pulse 140; respiration 39. The king slept fitfully last night. His high temperature was attributed to the reaction following the operation for removal of part of the tenth rib.

The fire originated in a gasoline explosion of an automobile in the garage. Two women were seated in the automobile at the time but managed to escape.

TWO LINES THREE MILES LONG TURKISH TRENCHES CAPTURED

IN MESOPOTAMIA THE BRITISH FORCES HAVE RECEIVED FROM THE TURKS THE SURRENDER OF AMARA AND HAVE TAKEN 2000 PRISONERS AND 15 GUNS.

ENTANGLEMENTS HINDRANCE

Allies Fail to Destroy Wire Obstructions With Artillery Sufficiently to Enable Them to Hold What They Capture and Are Forced to Fall Back—Italians in Big Battle.

London, June 6.—The allies in their offensive on the Gallipoli peninsula on June 4 captured and held two lines of Turkish trenches along a front of nearly three miles. In Mesopotamia the British forces have received from the Turks the surrender of Amara and taken more than 2000 prisoners, thirteen guns, a gunboat, barges and steamers. The pursuit of the Turks who were dispersed into the marshes continues.

As in all trench warfare, which characterizes the fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula has assumed, the allies found their general advance hindered through the inability of part of their force to penetrate the wire entanglements which the artillery fire had not sufficiently destroyed. This left other sections of the force open to an enfilading fire and therefore part of the ground gained had to be given up. Some also was lost when the Turks counter attacked.

A gain of 500 yards on a front of three miles in this sort of fighting, however, is considered satisfactory by the British, particularly as it induced the Turks to counter attack in which they suffered very heavy losses.

Two battles are in progress in Galicia. The Russians have made a considerable advance on the lower reaches of the San and have driven the Austro-Germans back to the Leng river, while to the southwest of Lemberg the Austro-Germans are advancing although the Russians are contesting every inch of the roads to the Galician capital, which is the objective of the Teutonic allies.

The region north of Arras remains the interesting point on the western front. Here the French claim to have gained more ground and according to their report have repulsed violent German counter attacks. The Germans on the other hand assert they have repulsed the French attacks.

The first important battle of Italian campaign is raging for possession of Tolmino, where the Italians have met with the first serious opposition in their advance across the Austrian frontier.

Italian warships have been busy destroying cables and lightships in the Adriatic and have again bombarded Trieste. There has also been some naval activity in the Baltic, Russian and German squadrons exchanging shots in the vicinity of the Gulf of Riga.

Rumania is going through a crisis similar to that experienced by Italy before the latter country entered the war. Those who favor neutrality and those who favor war held counter demonstrations at Bucharest yesterday and the political parties are getting into shape to put forward their views. The general opinion held in London is that Rumania will join the allies when Italy gives the word and that Bulgaria will follow her lead.

With the king of Greece suffering a relapse and in a serious condition, no change in the attitude of that country is expected immediately.

Announcement of Captures

London, June 6.—Official announcement was made tonight that the British troops at the Dardanelles as a result of the new offensive move last week, captured two lines of Turkish trenches along a three mile front. The statement follows:

"On the night of June 3-4 the Turks having been bombarded by a small force of the extreme right of the French position which previously had been captured, launched an infantry attack against it which was repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. At the same time the Turks set fire to scrub in front of the left center of the position occupied by the British division and attacked but met with no success."

"On June 4, Sir Ian Hamilton ordered a general attack on the Turkish trenches in the southern area of the Gallipoli peninsula, preceded by a vision made good progress on the left, capturing a strong redoubt and two lines of trenches beyond it about 500 yards in advance of their original position."

"At a given signal the troops rushed forward with the bayonet. They were immediately successful along the line except in one spot where the heavy wire entanglement was not destroyed by the bombardment."

"Indian troops on our extreme left made a magnificent advance. They captured two lines of trenches but owing to the fact that the troops on their right were hung up by this wire entanglement they were obliged to retire to their original line. The regular division made good progress on the left, capturing a strong redoubt and two lines of trenches beyond it about 500 yards in advance of their original position."

"The territorial division on our center did brilliantly, advancing 600 yards and capturing three lines of trenches but though the advanced captured trench was held all day and half of the ensuing night, they had to be ordered back in the morning to the second captured line as both their flanks were exposed."

"The naval division on our right center captured a redoubt and a formidable line of trenches but they too had to be ordered back owing to the heavy enfilading fire."

"The French second division advanced with great gallantry. They took the fourth time that deadly redoubt they call Le Haricot, but unfortunately the Turks developed heavy counter attacks through prepared communication trenches."

Mexican Shot in Head at Corpus by Indicted Constable

Houston, Tex., June 6.—Juan Rodriguez, a young Mexican, early this morning was shot in the head at Corpus Christi and is not expected to live. John McManigle, deputy constable, is held in the county jail charged with the shooting.

McManigle was one of the forty-two indicted Saturday by the federal grand jury relative to the election investigation. Statements of witnesses are that McManigle and Rodriguez while attending a Mexican dance quarreled over personal matters.

McManigle's Bond Cancelled

Corpus Christi, June 6.—The bond of John McManigle in the alleged election fraud case was cancelled today by Judge Burns when informed that McManigle had been arrested charged with having shot the Mexican, Rodriguez, here. The bond was cancelled by telegraph from Houston, where Judge Burns went today.

Trouble between Rodriguez and McManigle is stated to have had no connection with the election indictments.

Revokes Passports of Americans Who Criticise the U. S.

Berlin, Via London, June 6.—The United States embassy today ordered the revocation of two American citizens living at Dresden, who have been criticizing the action of their government in the present crisis and who are said to have declared they were assumed of their citizenship. The two men, whose names have not yet been made public, are charged with having violently attacked the policies of the present administration.

Explanation Passports Cancellation

Washington, June 6.—It was explained tonight at the state department that the passports of Leon Raines and Karl Recknagel had been revoked because of their published attacks on the American government. They were reported to have issued an open letter to President Wilson in the press of Germany and to have been the authors of circulars and pamphlets criticizing the United States.

As the giving of passports is a courtesy on the part of the state department the privileges were ordered revoked through Ambassador Gerard on the ground that the men violated their allegiance.

Revocation of the passports makes it practically impossible for either Raines or Recknagel to return to the United States before conclusion of the war. In the meantime they will be without protection usually given by this government to its subjects in foreign territory. State department officials said if the men returned to the United States there was no law under which they could be refused admission or their citizenship be denied.

Status of Mongolia Decided by Treaty After Year's Work

Peking, June 6.—Representatives of Russia, China and Mongolia who have been in conference at Khabarovka, Siberia, for nearly a year have at last reached a treaty which will determine the status of Mongolia. During the Chinese revolution of 1912 Mongolia declared its independence of China and was recognized immediately by Russia as an autonomous state. Japan thereupon returned to sphere of influence over inner Mongolia.

By the terms of the agreement now reached China will retain a nominal suzerainty over Mongolia. Russia and China agree not to interfere with the administration of Mongolia's internal affairs. A treaty to this effect will be signed tomorrow by the representatives of the three nations.

Austrian Destroyer Sunk by Sister Ship in Balloon Raid

Rome, Via Paris, June 6.—A dispatch to the Messaggero from Venice says: "During the bombardment of Pola by an Italian dirigible balloon May 30, the Austrian warship anchored at the arsenal moved into positions where the dirigible was hovering. While doing so the battleship Erzherzog Ferdinand in backing crashed into a destroyer, tearing a large hole in the side of the smaller craft. The destroyer was sunk. The propellers and rudder of the battleship were damaged."

SUMMARY OF WAR

Considerable gains by the allied forces in France, on the Gallipoli peninsula and in Asiatic Turkey are chronicled by London and Paris, while damage to Austrian positions on the Adriatic by Italian warships is reported by Italy. Berlin admits two reverses claimed by Paris—at Neuville St. Vaast, where the Germans have lost two groups of houses, and the requisitioning of the sugar factory at Souchez.

The Germans, however, assert that they and their Austrian allies continue to make good progress against the Russians in Galicia, taking from them numerous positions and capturing large numbers of men and guns.

The gains on the western front claimed by Paris are on the sector north of Arras and at Neuville, where trenches to the south of the "Labyrinth" have been taken, and to the north of the Aisne, where after a bombardment two successive lines of trenches and several German works were captured and counter attacks repulsed.

Germany reports the repulse of heavy losses to the allies of attacks on the eastern slope of the Lorette Heights.

UNOFFICIAL EFFORT TO GET FACTIONS IN MEXICO TO AGREE

VILLA-ZAPATA FORCES WOULD MEET CARRANZA IN SETTLEMENT ON SOME FORM OF GOVERNMENT THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD RECOGNIZE.

State Department at Washington Observing Developments But Nothing Is Given Out Regarding Future Plans—Railroads Asked to Transport Foodstuffs Without Charge.

Washington, June 6.—Informal efforts—as yet without official sanction—are being made by Mexicans connected with the Villa-Zapata movement in Mexico to bring about reconciliation with the Carranza faction with the view of establishing a government that could claim recognition at the hands of the United States.

Elisea Arredondo, Washington representative of Gen. Carranza, today received a message from a Carranza consul on the border saying he had been approached by a Villa official, speaking presumably with authority, to learn what could be done to initiate peace negotiations. The message was forwarded without comment by Mr. Arredondo to Gen. Carranza at Vera Cruz.

Enrique Lorente, agent here of the Villa-Zapata coalition, said he had no official advice that any peace parleys had begun and believed any preliminaries in this connection would be arranged through his agency. He said he had received a telegram from Miguel Diaz Lombardo, secretary of state of the Villa-Zapata government, in which the latter announced his departure from Chihuahua for Leon to confer with Gen. Villa on the general situation.

American Red Cross officials are rapidly putting into effect their plans for relieving starving Mexican non-combatants. An army transport will leave Galveston tomorrow for Vera Cruz with a large consignment of corn and beans for Mexico City, arrangements having been made for safe delivery of the supplies through the Carranza lines.

On its return trip the transport will bring back any Americans or foreigners who may have reached Vera Cruz from Mexico City or other points in the interior and desire to leave the country.

Brigadier General Devol, general manager of the Red Cross, left today for the Texas border to confer with Major General Funston and other officers at the border about handling relief supplies. Up to the time of his departure General Devol had received no reply to his request that the American Railway association that the railroad grant free transportation or reduced rates for foodstuffs destined to the Mexican famine sufferers.

Informally some Carranza officials expressed their own opinion that the efforts of the Villa elements to make peace was a confession of military failure and the coming disintegration of their movement. Peace negotiations were viewed by the Carranza men therefore as an obstacle to their military triumph by General Carranza with consequent recognition. On the other hand in Villa quarters it was reiterated that General Villa had from the first expressed a willingness to eliminate himself and restore peace and that recent victories by General Angeles and others in the vicinity of Delays indicated that the Villa forces now had the upper hand.

Officials of the Washington government declined to comment on the situation. Since the warning contained in President Wilson's statements of officials here have observed no further movement with interest but no further statements from the United States through its consular representatives to forward the movement of domestic harmony in Mexico. Dr. W. West, personal representative of President Wilson, has left here on a vacation at his home in San Antonio. It is believed likely he will return soon to continue to advise the administration of further developments in the Mexican situation arise.

SUMMARY OF WAR

Two lines of Turkish trenches on the Gallipoli peninsula were taken by the allies is reported by London and Paris. The fighting was of a most sanguinary character, position after position being taken by the allies in furious counter attacks. Allied battleships, cruisers and destroyers aided their land forces in capturing the Turkish positions.

In the taking of Amara, on the Tigris river in Asiatic Turkey, the British received the surrender of the governor and some 30 officers and 700 men. In all that district the British took prisoner more than 2000 men.

The Italian naval forces have carried out several operations against the Austrian coast points in the middle of the Adriatic. They have cut the cable connecting Dalmatian Archipelago to the continent and destroyed by look-out stations on the islands. Malcon torpedo destroyers and the rail between Cattaro and Ragusa and damaged.

Five more British trawlers have been sent to the bottom by German submarines.

Paintings by Miss Elmendorf Displayed at A. & M. College

College Station, Tex., June 6.—An annual feature of this year's commencement exhibit in the department of drawing at the A. & M. college is a collection of paintings by Miss Stella Elmendorf, of San Antonio. This collection was secured from Miss Elmendorf by G. A. Giest of the department of drawing and comprises ten of her best pieces in oil.

Miss Elmendorf is a student in the department of architecture at the University of Texas. She has studied under Robert Henri, one of America's leading artists. Her collection embraces "Sentinel's Tree," "The Enchanted Forest," "Seal Rocks, California," "Our Pacific Coast," "Under the Cypress," "Monarchs of the Forest," "Land O' Will-O-the-Wisp," "The Calma Sea" and "Daisy," the story of a calf. Highway Bridges and Culverts.

College Station, June 6.—Director Spence of the Texas engineering experiment station at the A. & M. college, announces that a bulletin dealing with "Highway Bridges and Culverts," prepared by the division of highway engineers, is available and may be had on request. This bulletin was compiled by B. K. Coghlan, associate professor of highway engineering at the college.

That within the past year in Texas bridges have been erected that were out of date, both as regards type of construction and ability to carry traffic, before they had been open for use a single day, is the statement of this bulletin. Such questions as location, area of waterway, foundations, piers, abutments, height of bridge above water, headroom, loading and other problems of bridge and culvert construction are considered at length. The bulletin is an exceedingly practical one.

State Capitol Will Not Be Overhauled

Austin, Tex., June 6.—Governor Ferguson has vetoed the item of $415,000 in the miscellaneous appropriation bill for a general overhauling of the interior of the state capitol. The item of $127,000 in the departmental bill for improvement of the capitol will be approved by the executive.

The governor vetoed the $415,000 item because he thinks the state can not at this time afford that expense, and because should the entire interior of the capitol be torn up in making the contemplated improvements the business of the various departments in the capitol would be seriously interfered with and some completely suspended for two years. The governor is of the opinion that item of $125,000 in the departmental is sufficient at this time.

Negroes Arrested at Temple.

Temple, June 6.—The police last night apprehended two negroes responding to the names of Albert Davis and Daniel Ford who were taken up at the request of Lampasas county officers on a burglary charge filed in that county. The men were returned to the scene of the alleged offense this morning in charge of Lampasas officers, who came after them. They were arrested in the M. K. & T. railroad yards in the act of boarding a freight train to seek pastures new.

Exams Ended at A. and M.

College Station, June 6.—Examinations for the year 1914-15 are a thing of the past at the A. & M. college. The last examinations were given Saturday. Senior tests began Saturday two weeks ago, lasting for one week. Last Saturday the underclassmen began with their final tests. From present indications the percentage of failures on final examinations will be smaller this year than heretofore. Daily grades and examinations are counted equally at A. and M.

NORTHWEST TEXAS SUFFERS FROM RAIN

WIND AND HAIL AROUND WICHITA FALLS CAUSE DAMAGE TO CROPS.

FORT WORTH WITHOUT GAS

Pipe Line Breaks Again and Dallas Also Has No Supply Save Artificial.

Wichita Falls, Tex., June 6.—Rain, wind and hail in this section of Northwest Texas this afternoon did great damage to the wheat and oat crop as well as considerable property damage. Railroad service is generally suspended and streams still rising. It was the third day of rain and in some localities still was falling late tonight. The precipitation for the three days ranges from six inches at Wichita Falls to nine inches at Quanah. It is impossible to estimate the crop damage, but in Wichita county alone, where the wheat crop has been placed at two million bushels, it is believed that not more than one-quarter will be harvested owing to storm damage. There has been no loss of life reported.

The Quanah, Atlantic and Pacific railroad has not operated a train in or out of Quanah since Friday because of washed out tracks. Besides several washouts the Fort Worth and Denver line lost a bridge twenty-five miles south of Quanah last night. All train service into Wichita Falls has been discontinued owing to high water. The Big Wichita river is within one foot of being out of banks and rising two inches an hour.

Small houses were damaged and growing crops are reported beaten to the ground by hail throughout the Vernon and Wichita Falls sections.

Rains in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., June 6.—Torrential rains in some sections, accompanied by destructive winds and electrical storms, caused three deaths last night, together with considerable property damage, in western Wisconsin and eastern Minnesota.

Rains on Upper Brazos.

Heavy rains over the upper Brazos were reported yesterday to A. E. Howell, local weather and river observer, by B. Bunnemeyer, government observer at Houston. Sharp rises in the Brazos at Waco were predicted within 36 or 48 hours. The stage of the Brazos here yesterday was 9 feet, so it is not believed that there is much danger at this point.

Farm Women Being Organized Into Bands of Good Neighbors

College Station, Tex., June 6.—"Farm women of Texas realize that they are missing many of the best things of life and they are beginning to insist that more attention be paid to the things that make for culture and self-improvement in general." Those are the words of Mrs. Nat P. Jackson, who as an employee of the extension service of the A. and M. college is organizing the women of the farm into "Bands of Good Neighbors." Mrs. Jackson returned today from an extended tour of the Panhandle section of Texas.

Spoken of feeling between the women of the farm and the women of the towns exists in that section, according to Mrs. Jackson.

During her western trip Mrs. Jackson organized fifteen of these societies. She has organized within the past six months fifty-three societies with 1,000 members. Reading courses on conveniences for the farm home, sanitation, care of the sick, home decorations, domestic science and economy are conducted in these organizations.

Thrashing Bumper Oat Crop in Bell

Temple, Tex., June 6.—The oat crop of Bell county is now commencing to move while thrashers are working day and night in the fields saving the immense crop with which this section has been blessed this season. Already a number of cars of the grain have been received by local wholesalers, while at least ten cars of the crop have been shipped from this point to date.

The Santa Fe railway company made early arrangements to handle a bumper crop and is found prepared to cope with the situation, there being ample cars in sight and speedily available. The wagon receipts that commenced last week in this market will be increased in immense volume during the coming week as the weather conditions have been ideal and the grain has nearly all been cut.

SHORTAGE MUNITIONS CAUSES GREAT LOSS

SPEECH OF JERSEY DE KNOOP IS CENSORED BY THE BRITISH.

Gives Reasons for Thousands of Casualties—War Now Nearing Crisis.

London, June 6.—The following speech by Captain Jersey De Knoop of the Cheshire Yeomanry, emphasizing the thousands of casualties in the British forces caused directly by shortage of ammunition, was published in the Manchester Guardian, but the press bureau censors refused permission to certain of the London newspapers to reproduce it.

Captain De Knoop is a well known provincial political leader and the probable candidate of the unionist party for the next vacant seat in the house of commons. He is at present home from the front, recovering from two severe wounds. The speech was delivered at the annual meeting of the Northwich Unionist Association.

"We are just about approaching the crisis of the war," said Captain De Knoop, "and it depends upon the behavior of the people of the country whether the war is to drag on into the years."

ing on strike for another half-penny an hour, or because they are asked to do a bit of extra work. What would happen if a battalion refused to go into a trench because they only had a day off after doing forty-eight hours? What would happen to the empire if the men in the trenches look upon these fellows at home as stark, staring mad. Strikes ought to be absolutely unheard of.

"It is a long time before we reach the turning, and a thorny path that we have to tread in the meantime. But people at home must see to it that more munitions are turned out. Lord Kitchener must have his 300,000 men today rather than tomorrow."

"We must win, but we have got to break down a machine which has been preparing for forty-five years. We must let the French know that this country is going to fight with the whole and not with a quarter of its power. Those who talk about its not mattering whether they live under the German emperor or the British king should see the terrible sights I have seen. Only a strip of water separates us from it."

"I was sent on the wild goose chase of trying to relieve Antwerp. Then my command joined up with the main army which hung on simply by the eyelids and kept the Germans from breaking through to Calais. Thousands were killed, largely through lack of ammunition on our side. The men were kept in the trenches day after day, night after night, simply because there was nobody to relieve them. They hung on and fought as well as Britons ever fought since the world began. They fought and they died for want of forethought."

"We in this country have got to see to it that no more are thus sacrificed."

Lack of Ammunition.

"Then we were told that ammunition was coming along and that all would be well. But we have seen in the papers how the brilliant infantry attack north of La Bassée was stopped and thousands of casualties incurred owing to lack of ammunition."

"On the day I was hit we were relieving men in the trenches who were so dog-tired that they could scarcely move. At 4 o'clock in the morning the shelling by the Germans began. I had seen a certain amount of shelling before that, but everybody agreed that there had never been anything like this in the history of warfare. Ten, twelve, fifteen shells at a time were bursting up and down the line. Our gunners could do practically nothing. The reason of all this was that we had had to recruit in a hurry and had taken mechanics who ought to have remained behind to make shells. As long as we have the voluntary system we cannot really organize labor. Contrast our position with that of the French, who quickly realized the likelihood of a shortage of shells and immediately sent back the mechanics. It is owing to the French 75 guns that the French army has done so well."

A large congregation was in attendance and welcoming addresses were made by representatives of the various church societies and the retiring pastor, Rev. W. B. McGarity. Rev. Nutt responded in a fitting manner to the friendly expressions and expressed himself as confident that with all working together a great year's work would be the inevitable result.

But—

The average cup of coffee contains about 2 1-2 grains of caffeine, a subtle, poisonous drug.

Caffeine is cumulative and day by day pounds away at nerves, heart and other organs, finally showing in biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, heart flutter, nervous prostration, etc.

A cup of

has a flavour similar to mild, high-grade Java, but contains no coffee, caffeine, nor other harmful substance.

Postum—made of whole wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses—is a pure food-drink decidedly American, and is taking the place of coffee with thousands of people who appreciate health and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—requires thorough boiling to bring out its flavour and food value. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—the soluble form—is prepared in the cup instantly with hot water. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious—cost per cup about the same—sold by grocers everywhere.

Annapolis, Md., June 6.—The battleships Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin, with the members of the new first, second and third classes at the naval academy on board, lay at anchor in the bay opposite the academy all day today in accordance with orders from Washington to postpone the sailing of the practice squadron until a court of inquiry into examination cheating began its inquiry.

The court will meet tomorrow morning. So far as the seven accused midshipmen are concerned their cases may be settled by the secretary of the navy at any time without reference to what is developed by the court of inquiry. The naval investigation concerns rather the conduct of other midshipmen and any of those may have been concerned in the matter.

PAN-AMERICANS START

WILL VISIT VARIOUS MANUFACTURING CENTERS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Close Visit at St. Louis With Lunch—Niagara Conference Discussed.

St. Louis, June 6.—The delegates to the recent Pan-American financial conference left St. Louis today for Chicago on the eastward leg of their trip of inspection to some of the principal manufacturing centers of the United States. They closed their visit here with a luncheon at the St. Louis club at which Frederick V. Lehmann, former solicitor general of the United States, told the delegates that the Niagara Falls mediation conference to adjust Mexican affairs may not have accomplished exactly what it was aimed to accomplish, but it undoubtedly had a far-reaching effect through South and Central America.

"One of the great accomplishments of the conference," said Mr. Lehmann, "is the fact that through the United States prompt and friendly acceptance of the offer of the three South American republics to mediate, she recognized as her equals the countries of the south of us. That act will continue to have its effect long after the details of the conference itself are forgotten."

The conference also emphasized the fact that the United States does not desire territory in Central or South America; that she is not seeking indemnity in gold nor does she desire reparation through the humiliation of a sister republic.

Admiral Cordeiro Da Graça of the Brazilian navy in an address said: "We consider the United States our chief teacher. We don't fear you because we cannot fear a nation that has given such wisdom to the world."

David R. Francis, former governor of Missouri, told the delegates that "the absolute inviolability of American territory and the solidarity of Pan-America are the two prime requisites that make us all Americans." To his toast, "The Solidarity of Pan-America," the visitors arose and responded with the Stars and Stripes "which we all love."

Fall of Przemyśl Not Decision of the Great German Battle

London, June 6.—A Reuter dispatch from Zurich says that the Austrian papers received there sound a note of warning against over estimating the importance of the Austro-German victory in Galicia.

A correspondent of the Zeit telegraphs that the fall of Przemyśl does not mean a decision in the great battle in eastern Galicia but is only an important part of it.

The military expert of the Neue Presse, Vienna, says: "The losses the Russians have sustained during the war are enormous but their reserves are enormous." He recalls how after previous defeats the Russians resumed the offensive.

Special telegrams from Austrian headquarters report that the Russian rear guards are opposing the pursuit by Gen. Linsingen's army south of the Danube and covering the retreat across the river.

Gen. Mackensen's army is again meeting violent attacks from fresh Russian reserve forces and the Russians are exerting enormous pressure in the region of the San.

French War Office Statement.
Paris, June 6.—A statement by the French war office today says: "In the region north of Aras the enemy undertook yesterday evening a very violent effort to recapture the positions which he had lost recently. The whole front from Ablain to Neuville and particularly the sugar refinery at Souchez underwent a bombardment almost continually, to which our artillery replied energetically."

"Five German counter attacks were launched on the slope east of La Chapelle de Lorette. The counter attacks have been incessant in the wood east of the road from Aix Noullette to Souchez."

"The German offensive was overwhelmed everywhere and we maintained all our positions, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. Between the Aix Noullette-Souchez road and the Ablain-Souchez road we took several trenches of the enemy in which we made about thirty prisoners."

Russians Retard Austro-Germans.
Petrograd, via London, June 6.—The forward movement of the extreme Russian right flank operating on Stanal, Yta, Zargina and Lentonka continues to retard the advance of the central Austro-German forces east of Jaroslavl and Przemyśl, which thus far has failed.

Krawce and Burdzi, which are particularly marked in this connection, the fighting front may be traced by following the San to the south of the Lubaczowka and then following the river to the village of Tukha, which is 12 miles south of Jaroslavl. Thence the front is on a straight line 12 miles east of Przemyśl, including the villages of Kalnikof, Kosmenitzka and Krutenitzka, and proceeding southward to the Dniester, which marks the southern front."

Mrs. Breckinridge Quits National Suffrage

Chicago, June 6.—Mrs. Desha Breckinridge of Lexington, Ky., resigned from the national board of the National Woman Suffrage association at the meeting held tonight in advance of the first mid-year conference which will be begun tomorrow. Mrs. Nellie Nugent Somerville of Greenville, Miss., was selected in her place. Mrs. Breckinridge resigned because her work in the proper time to the national work, it was said.

Controversies over national and state policies between the national association and congressional union are expected to be the leading points at issue in the conference.

British Casualty List Heaviest Yet

London, June 7.—(3:09 A. M.)—The casualty lists for the week's end are the heaviest issued since the war began. They include 59 officers and 6,620 men, of whom 1,674 were killed. This brings the total British losses during the last week to 900 officers and 20,000 men.

Mrs. M. Callahan Relates Experience She Had With Various Preparations.

Selecting at random from a mass of written testimonials is the following statement from Mrs. M. Callahan, who lives at No. 207 Kearns street, Pittsburg, and whose husband is a trusted employee of the McAdoo Express Co. She stated: "My trouble, so I had been informed, was catarrh of the stomach. At times I would suffer from awful cramps and my stomach pained me all the time and a terrible burning sensation in my mouth; my heart would hurt me until I could hardly stand the pain. I was dizzy headed and at times felt as though I was about to fall over backwards. I had no appetite and what little food I did eat caused me to vomit. I was skeptical of all medicine and did not have any faith in Plant Juice helping me, but since using five bottles I can eat anything and my food agrees with me. In fact, I am in such good health that I feel it my duty to let others know that Plant Juice has made me like a new woman. My little daughter is now using Plant Juice also, and even the neighbors speak of her improved appearance. She formerly was sick all the time, but now she is the very picture of health."

VILLA AND ANGELES FORCES ARE ROUTED

TOWN OF LEON CAPTURED, ACCORDING TO OBREGON'S REPORT.

Reconstruction of Railroad and Telegraph With Coast Is Ordered.

Vera Cruz, June 6.—Defeat of the forces of Generals Angeles and Villa; the capture of the town of Leon and of all of Villa's trains and artillery is announced in a report of Gen. Obregon of the Carranza army, received here today.

The report says: "I have achieved an important victory. After a five days' battle Angeles and Villa with small groups of followers fled in different directions. Our forces are pushing them north of Leon."

"Leon has been occupied by the Carranza troops. All the enemy's trains and artillery were captured. The battle extended over a zone of 300 miles."

"I have ordered the reconstruction of the railroad and telegraph with Vera Cruz."

No Word at El Paso.
El Paso, June 6.—No word has been received here for two days from the fighting in the state of Guanajuato. The last direct advices came from Gen. Felipe Angeles at Leon and stated that Gen. Villa with a force of cavalry had circled east of Gen. Obregon's entrenched line at Trinidad and captured Silao, thereby cutting Obregon's line of communication with Irapuato.

"Villa representatives here as well as American officers conversant with the situation were inclined to await direct advices before accepting the Carranza report of victory at Leon."

No Advices at Washington.
Washington, June 6.—The state department or at either of the Mexican agencies up to a late hour tonight to confirm reports of a victory for Obregon over Villa and Angeles at Leon.

At the Carranza headquarters the news that Obregon had announced the capture of Leon and routing of his opponents were received with delight and as an evidence that the complete collapse of the Villa movement was near at hand.

Enrique C. Llorente, the Villa representative, refused to give credence to the report. He said his last advices showed Villa and Angeles had driven Obregon far south of Leon and that the main body of the Carranza army was in a critical position near Trinidad.

Carranza Threatens Crops.
On board U. S. S. Colorado, San Diego, Cal., June 6.—Threatened destruction by Carranza forces of the crops and products of the Yaqui valley, upon which Guaymas, the important Mexican seaport and railroad terminal in the state of Sonora is dependent for food supplies, is causing grave apprehension in the city, according to radiograms received today by Admiral Howard. Railroad communication from the north has been cut.

Spanish Nuns Escape.
New York, June 6.—Eighteen Spanish nuns, refugees from Mexico, were here today on board the Spanish liner Manuel Calvo.

Five of the nuns had to don secular dress, they said, in order to escape from Merida, where they had a school. All belong to an educational society which has a branch in this city and where they will remain.

Transport to Bring Refugees.
Houston, June 6.—Sailing under orders from the war department, the U. S. army transport Buford will leave Galveston Monday for Vera Cruz and Tampico to bring back to this country a number of refugees.

United States Immigration Inspector M. A. Coykendall, with headquarters at Houston, will accompany the transport Buford under instructions from Inspector Bryan, in charge of the immigration service at Galveston.

No Word at El Paso.
El Paso, June 6.—American and Mexican officials here were not hopeful today of receiving early advices from special representatives who left Chihuahua a few days ago to submit President Wilson's warning to Mexican leaders to General Francisco Villa.

No word was received today from George C. Carothers, special representative of the state department, or Miguel Diaz Lombardo, minister of foreign affairs in Villa's cabinet. Opinion here generally was that it will be several days before any advices are received.

tion trenches and under cover of an accurate shell fire were able to recapture it.

"On the French extreme right the French captured a strong line of trenches which through heavily counter attacks twice during the night they still occupy."

"We captured 400 prisoners including ten officers. Among the prisoners were five Germans, from the Goeben (the Turkish cruiser Sultan Selim). Their officers were killed and the machine gun captured was destroyed."

"During the night information was received that enemy reinforcements were advancing from the direction of Mardos toward Kithran. Thereupon Lieutenant General Birdwood arranged to attack the trenches in front of Quinn's post at 10 p. m. which was successfully carried out and the captured trenches held throughout the night. The Turkish casualties were heavy."

"At 6:30 a. m. the enemy heavily counter attacked and by means of heavy bombs forced our men out of the forward trench though we still hold communication trenches made during the night."

"The result of these operations is that we have made an advance of 500 yards which includes two lines of Communication From Paris.

Paris, June 6.—The following official communication was issued by the war office today:

"North of Arras the struggle continues with extreme activity and to our advantage. We have delivered several favorable attacks on the two sides of the road from Aix Noullette to the village we have carried several houses and at the same time tightened our investment of an enemy shelter in a group of houses to the northwest of that locality and have occupied the passageway leading to it."

"We have captured new trenches in the center and to the south of the 'Labyrinth' and have advanced about a hundred meters. The struggle has continued without interruption for eight days in that great work, two-thirds of which we now hold."

"North of the Aisne, east of Tracy le Mont on the neighboring heights of Mont-Sous-Touvent we delivered an attack which realized important gains."

"After a very efficacious bombardment on a front of one kilometer (about two-thirds of a mile) we captured with a single effort two successive lines of trenches and several enemy works. Then violent counter attacks were repulsed by our troops, who took more than 200 prisoners and three 77 guns."

"In the Champagne near Beaunejour we have progressed to the mine on the heights of the Meuse. In the Vosges there has been artillery engagements."

Notice to Subscribers:
Delivery routes in the City of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscription accounts are due them, not The Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised, against delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered throughout the City of Waco by 6:30 a. m., and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1182, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

OBSERVING THE SUNDAY LAW.

The Morning News is glad the proprietors of the various picture shows in Waco will accept the edict of the higher courts and the suggestions of the officers and not attempt to operate their places of amusement on Sunday in the future. The law is very explicit in prohibiting the operation of the shows on Sunday where a regular admission is charged, and the court of criminal appeals has recently ruled that the donation plan is merely an attempt to evade the law and is, therefore, not to be permitted.

We recognize, of course, that there are many people who would like to see the "movies" left free to operate on Sunday. But there are very few people who go to the shows on Sunday but who could go some evening during the week, if the proper effort were made. We believe it infinitely better that the law be upheld and the sanctity of the Sabbath day be preserved than that the shows be permitted to operate on that day in spite of the law.

But now that the courts have spoken and the sheriff's office has secured the co-operation of the picture shows in closing their places of business on Sunday hereafter without a contest, we trust the officers will secure the co-operation of the Cotton Palace directorate to the end that the War Path attractions at the Cotton Palace shall also be closed on Sunday, for it has been the operation of these attractions on Sunday in the past that has led the local picture shows to put on Sunday exhibitions. The picture show proprietors claimed that to permit the War Path attractions to run on Sunday and refuse the same privilege to the picture shows was a discrimination against the latter, and they were correct. And they reasoned if the law permitted Sunday operations of the picture shows during the Cotton Palace season it was not illegal to keep the lid off the year round.

But the law must be upheld. We are glad Sheriff Fleming is going to enforce it and that the proprietors of the picture shows are going to make his task so easy.

EXERCISE AND HEALTH.

In "Exercise and Health," an educational leaflet from the United States public health service, a note of warning is sounded. The death rate after the age of forty is increasing in spite of more sanitary modes of living and greater protection against communicable disease. The expectation of life after forty is less than it was thirty years ago. This is due largely to increased prevalence of the diseases of degeneration. The muscles, arteries and other organs of those who as a result of sedentary occupation or indolence take too little exercise degenerate. Heart disease, kidney disease and other ills follow.

Take exercise. Take daily exercise. Have a hobby that gets you out of doors. Walk to your business, to your dressmaker's, walk for the sake of walking. Join a walking club and keep your weekly score of miles. Keep chickens, make a garden, wheel the baby or play golf or any other game, but take two hours outdoor exercise every day. Gymnasium work is good for those who like it and can afford it, but avoid heavy athletics. Don't try to be a "strong man," the champion athlete often dies young. Be a moderate, persistent, daily exponent of exercise. You may not burn the family carriage, as Benjamin Franklin suggested, but at least, as he advised, walk, walk, walk.

On the completion of its first anniversary the Austin American announces that a skyscraper, modeled after the celebrated "Gerald" of Sevilla, Spain, will be erected for its future home. That is "going some" for a one-year-old, but then newspaper men have a way of doing large things frequently, when they set their purposes that way, and here's hoping the American realizes its every ambition.

STUDENT'S LOAN FUND.

There will be some who will oppose the proposed constitutional amendment, to be voted on in July, authorizing the commissioners' courts of the various counties of Texas to establish a student's loan fund; this fund to be loaned by the commissioner's court to deserving students of the public schools of the county for the completion of their courses there and for the prosecution of their studies in the higher educational institutions maintained by the state.

But the reasons for the adoption of the amendment are so much more numerous and weighty that we feel confident the people will support the measure once their stop to consider its importance.

In every county there are deserving, ambitious young men and women who are anxious to complete their education but who haven't the funds available for doing so. Many of them are working their way through school at present and many more of them will continue to do so. But there are not as many places open where they can work for all or even a portion of their expenses as there are applicants, and many young people are unable to realize their ambitions and thus fully equip themselves for life so they go out into the activities of the world sadly handicapped. And many of those who are forced to work for all their expenses while in school or even a major portion of them have to carry such burdens in order to support themselves and meet the requirements of their classes at the same time that they overtax themselves physically to the point that the strain becomes an actual injury.

A loan fund upon which these young people could draw would enable them to go ahead with their class work without interruption and without serious strain upon their physical resources, complete their courses on schedule time and then go immediately into the work which they intend to pursue in life and repay, with interest, the money they had borrowed. The commissioner's court would, of course, exercise caution in loaning the fund only to those young men and women of character and promise. Such young people would in a short while pay the loan back with accumulated interest, and in this way the fund would grow from year to year and thus become available to larger number of deserving students.

Such a fund would be of great advantage to the individual student, but wherein is the county under obligation to help the student? some may ask. A properly equipped man or woman is a great asset to his home county, his city and his state. College graduates have come to realize their obligation to the community and have become leaders in the social, educational and economic affairs of that community. And past experience has taught that the young man and the young woman who have been compelled to assume the responsibility and burden of their education, as a rule, have realized their obligation to their fellows, to the community in general, more readily than those young men and women who have had well-to-do parents to put them through the high school and the college.

Communities which have graduates of the University of Texas, A. & M. College and the College of Industrial Arts, and other state institutions in their midst have a rich asset in them. This is true, also, of graduates of many other institutions, of course, secular and private, but the provisions of the proposed amendment preclude the consideration of any but state institutions in the loaning of the public funds.

With everything taken into consideration, we believe the counties will be larger gainers from the student loan fund than those young men and women who will share the privileges of the fund, for it will make possible an increasingly large number of well equipped men and women in their midst and these well trained men and women will live their lives over again in the boys and girls with whom they will come in contact and inspire them, in turn, to make the most of themselves and their opportunities.

PHILOSOPHY.

The University of Berlin will confer the degree of doctor of philosophy upon all candidates who, after passing the required examination and submitting the required thesis, have been killed in battle before they could be formally invested with the degree, informs the Baltimore Sun. Perhaps, in the course of human events, the world may reach a stage of thought in which the conviction will be general that war is a very unphilosophic thing. There are many schools of philosophy, it is true, but we generally think of a philosopher as a man who decides questions with brains, not with bullets. When he goes on the battle field and undertakes to decide them by main force, does he not leave his philosophy behind, or at least the supreme ideals of genuine philosophy? War is the last argument of kings; it ought not to be the last argument of philosophers. But so long as men are made of flesh and blood, when a crisis comes you will nearly always find a very fierce patriot under the skin of the most sedate philosopher. The University of Berlin is doing the proper thing in according these post-mortem honors; but the question still remains, what is a philosopher, and is there really any such personage?

The Texas State Fair Association will permit no booze sold within the grounds of the fair at Dallas this year. This is a good move, inaugurated at the outset by the Texas Cotton Palace at Waco.

Figures published by the United States census report show that there were manufactured in the United States during the first eleven months of 1914 68,000 miles of motion picture film. The cost of manufacture is estimated to be as high as $37,000,000. The motion picture business is rated as the fifth largest industry of the United States. This includes merely the making of the films. It is said that sums ranging from $300,000 to $500,000 are sometimes expended in the making of a single feature film. And all this to cater to the demands of a public which usually pays only a nickel or a dime for its entertainment. To make such an expensive business profitable it must hold an immense patronage. It is said that there are approximately 18,000 motion picture theatres in the United States. A trade paper figures that the daily attendance is somewhere near 10,000,000 people. These are merely estimates but they are doubtless not far from correct.

Nathan Steinberg, who says he does not smoke, drink or dissipate, but who admits having stolen $1,000,000 worth of property and disposed of it in ten years in New York City, explains his downfall and his change from an upright to a degraded life as follows: "Just little old New York. It is easier to be crooked than straight there, and more profitable. I got in with a bad gang and here I am." And Steinberg's excuse is the same that has been given since the world began. Getting in with a bad crowd has ruined millions of young fellows who would never have gone astray perhaps had they exercised the precaution to have chosen clean associates.

We had always believed Governor Charles S. Whitman of New York was some "spieler," to permit a slang expression, but his baby, Charles S. Whitman, Jr., cried so loudly the other night in the executive mansion at Albany that his father, who was in San Francisco attending the Panama-Pacific exposition, heard him across the continent. The lusty youngster was crying over the telephone. Fond fathers will take notice and when a long way from home and wanting to hear the voices of their young hopefuls, just call up home over the long distance telephone and ask the baby to execute a cry. Distance will no doubt lend enchantment to the sound.

Governor Charles S. Whitman of New York does not believe in the policy of waiting until the office seeks the man. He announces, while on a visit to the Panama exposition at San Francisco, that his name will be on the Republican ticket next year, as a candidate for either the presidency or the vice presidency. What a contrast from the action of Charles E. Hughes, a former governor of New York, who says that under no circumstances will he permit his name to be considered in connection with the presidency or any other political office.

Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, widow of the late John Jacob Astor, victim of the Titanic, tells the court that $30,000 a year is not sufficient to properly care for the needs of her 3-year-old posthumous son. If we had $30,000 for distribution among the really deserving boys and girls of that age in Waco we could provide several dozen of them with the things they really need and develop more useful citizens of them than the youthful Astor promises to become if he is continually pampered with wealth.

Our hats are off to those ten American cowboys who rode over the border into Santa Cruz, Sonora, Mexico, and at the point of pistols took two young American boys from a Mexican colonel and 150 Mexican soldiers who had captured the boys in Arizona. President Wilson will find the American cowboys a very efficient factor in the pacification of the troubled republic across the Rio Grande in case he finds it necessary to intervene in the affairs there. They have nerve to spare and lots of ability to back it up with.

With 110 white graduates from the High School this year, and not a member of the class to flunk on the final examinations, Waco retains her rank in the city class. Dallas, which claims about three times the population of Waco, had only 152 graduates, while Houston, which claims 140,000 population, had only 108 graduates, and Austin, which boasts of being the center of culture as well as politics, had only 92 graduates.

There is apparently no end of trouble in Chicago. Following the recent revelations in that city to the effect that one boy out of seven goes to the bad and one woman out of twenty has gone to smoking cigarettes, we are informed that 14,000 union street car employees are going on a strike and will refuse to consider arbitration. The first thing we know congress will be enacting a law limiting the size of the cities in this country.

We shall not presume to judge the merits of the election fraud case at Corpus Christi in advance of the trial, in which a number of the most prominent officials of the city and county are involved, but if the government has a true case against the men, as the indictments charge, then we would not urge any clemency for the men because of the fact that they are Texans.

The Sunday School of the Trinity Methodist church of Dallas has taken on extension work. Instruction in music, art, literature, domestic science and outdoor sports will be given the members, who will be free to select the subject in which they are most interested. Of course this instruction will be given during the week and will not supplant the study of the Bible on Sunday.

OPPORTUNITY TO DO SERVICE STRESSED

DR. W. J. MCGLOTHLIN PREACHES COMMENCEMENT SERMON AT BAYLOR UNIVERSITY.

PARABLE GOOD SHEPHERD TEXT

Recitals of Graduates and Faculty and Society Reunions Features of Today.

Debt of the individual to society, was the theme of Dr. William Joseph McGlothlin, Ph. D., LL. D., D. D., professor of homiletics in Louisville Baptist seminary, who delivered the seventeenth annual commencement sermon to the class of 1915, in Carroll chapel, Baylor university, yesterday morning. Mr. McGlothlin based his sermon on the parable of the Good Shepherd, which he read preceding his address. The greatest opportunity for the college graduate to do human service lies in the constant struggle for human freedom, was the statement of Dr. McGlothlin. Last night Dr. McGlothlin preached the annual sermon to the Y. M. C. A. and W. C. C. A., which is a feature of Sunday commencement week at the university.

Carroll chapel was crowded yesterday morning when the graduates in academic cap and gown filled in to hear their places immediately before the speaker's stand. Dr. McGlothlin was introduced by Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of the university, as a professor of ability, an author of renown, well known both in this country and in Europe. "I am confident," continued Dr. Brooks, "that most of you have heard him before, and that you will now hear him to your pleasure and enlightenment."

The recital by graduates of the department of music this morning will begin the third day of commencement week. This afternoon on the quadrangle lawn the annual reunions of the Philomathean, Erisophian, Rufus C. Burleson and Calliopean literary societies, and reception for former members, will be followed by a band concert on the campus. The Baylor band will play under the direction of Prof. Charles Parker. Tonight in Carroll chapel Rudolf H. B. Mann, dean of the department of music, will be heard in organ recital. Mr. Hoffmann will be assisted by Anton Savatelli, violin, and John de Beck, tenor. Members of the musical faculty. Tomorrow is alumni and senior day, and events will be monopolized by the graduates and the former graduates and students.

Two Ideals of Life.
"The special verse to which I wish to call your attention is the tenth verse of the tenth chapter of the Gospel of Saint John," said Dr. McGlothlin. Let me repeat it: 'The thief cometh not but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.' 'No one could come to you on an occasion like this without profound emotion; before him seeing young men and young women who are demonstrating that they have a right to present their alma mater. She has done for them what she could; now they are going out to demonstrate their ability and attainments to the world. I congratulate them on this occasion. I congratulate the society which they have fitted themselves to adorn. It is a day of joy and gladness. I have asked the Lord to give me a message to strengthen them. My message is therefore to them. This message sets forth two ideals of life—the human and the anti-human. The human is the ideal of service; the anti-human is the ideal of self preservation. This ideal may in other words be called social and anti-social, Christian or anti-Christian; and this ideal and all its aspects are embodied in the verse which I have chosen for my text.

Leaders Are Needed.
"The text applies especially to those who are leaders of their line, and it follows therefore that those who are leaders are taking on their proper places. It applies especially to those who go from this institution. What will you be? A thief and a robber. Or will you be a shepherd, or will you be the good shepherd, of true service to them, and help the masses of mankind, or sheep in the days of Jesus?"

Let us take up the ideals of life one by one. The first is the anti-social view of life. It is the first that springs in the heart of man. It is the natural view of mankind, and it is the first law of life. It is the law of self-preservation. This instinct is sometimes overcome temporarily and is sometimes entirely lost for a time. Then love and service predominate. Such is the case in mother love, and it is through such love in the human heart that self-preservation is cheated. The anchorite is the example in olden times of the man who would rise above the first instincts of self. It was perhaps the highest motive which sent him into the desert or woods alone but he found the devil in the wood, and this life turned out to be one of the most selfish ways of living. He felt no call to render service, to benefit his fellow being, or to save the world. It is impossible to live apart from man. No man can live by himself or die by himself.

Parasites and Hirelings.
"There is another anti-social form of life which might be called parasitic. By this I mean not the parasite, but the man who lives by the existence of others. We know that there are mothers who are making parasites of their daughters, and fathers who are making parasites of their sons. These parasites are not always destructive, but they are loathsome. Parasites poison the blood with disease. There is another form; it is the hireling. Jesus said that there are some shepherds that are hirelings, and there are hundreds of thousands of that kind here in our own time. The most dangerous attitude in society is the hireling's attitude. The hirelings who are working by the clock contribute nothing to society other than what machines can do. Dr. R. W. Spillman relates the following story: Waiting for a train in a large station an old broken man sweeping the station floor attracted his attention. On being approached the old man made the boast that he had been playmate and fellow worker of the president of the United States. Mr. Spillman asked him if he had gone to work at the same work with the president, why he was still at work at his old post, and the old man answered: "I went to work for five dollars a week; the president went to work for the railroad." "No, you won't trust your precious skin when the wolf howls." You won't risk anything, but the helpless sheep which depend on you are left as its prey. The men who are a credit to society are those who dare to take a perilous position. In Louisville there are many saloons in the residence section, and the residents decided that they were going to oust the saloons. Most of the residents signed a petition to this effect. The saloonkeepers bulldozed, threatened and cajoled the men in the community who had business interests which they could harm until many took their names from this petition, thereby leaving their sons a prey to the evils of the saloon. This is the hireling attitude.

"Stand by the Sheep."
"There will be times when it will cost you dearly to be a leader of mankind, but I pray God that you will not be a hireling, and will stand by the sheep when the wolf comes to devour them, because God and they have the right to expect it of you. There is another attitude suggested by my text—the wolf's attitude. There is no fear that the wolf will take to steal, to kill, and to destroy. The wolf gets the sheep first of all and then by and by he kills it, and then the sheep is destroyed. The sheep is often ignorant that causes us to take this attitude toward our fellows.

"What does the employer know about the homes of his employees? In our industrial life there is the following of life from mankind which my text so well exemplifies. Who are thieves and robbers, but the man or woman who puts self first in his or her business? To say that we steal and kill is perhaps too strong. This is a bloodless war; a long drawn-out conflict. The nation has set for itself a demand for expansion—to expand, to conquer, to dominate. The church has not been free from this terrible desire to expand. Blood has been shed and the church has forfeited the sheep. God desires that mankind live, and more than that, they should not only have life, but have it abundantly. Now I believe that it is not simply that He is himself a good shepherd, but that He wants us to be good shepherds also. I bring to you this high ideal: Give your life for your fellow man. Jesus gave his own life to nourish others.

Bible and Science Agree.
"The attitude of God toward life is one of the most striking things in the Bible. One of the most marvelous of the many marvelous things in the Bible, is that it agrees with science. First you find the chaotic mass, then the chaotic mass brought into a whole; then God says 'Let us make man'; and then He endows man with intellect and moral attributes. Science tells us of the chaotic mass, and chaos turned into order, but it cannot account for the intellectual and moral attributes of man. I know a dog has not these moral attributes. When you kick him for some offense and he slings away with eyes and tail cast down, don't suppose that he knows he has done wrong. He is merely afraid of a beating. Science concerns itself with other spheres and planets, computing the distances of the stars, and surmising as to the possible inhabitants of these planets, but I would not be surprised to know that the world was made for the sake of the men and women who sit before me. I have come that you may have life."

"Life has many enemies, in fact nothing but life has enemies. That is the chaotic mass brought into a whole; then God says 'Let us make man'; and then He endows man with intellect and moral attributes. HIPPODROME.

"The College Widow."

"The College Widow," George Ade's delightful comedy which has been produced in motion pictures by Barry O'Neil with Ethel Clayton, George Soule Spencer, James Kaufman and others of O'Neil's original all-star Lubin company, shown on the Vitaphone-Lubin-Selig-Essanay program at the Hippodrome today and tomorrow, undoubtedly fills the bill for those who are fond of fun, love interest and the joy of living.

Obviously the first noticeable thing about a picture and especially the first release on a new program by any one company, is the photography, which, in this case, beyond criticism. Secondly, the settings are of unusual excellence. This applies not only to the interior but the outdoor views. The thing remembered in Barry O'Neil's "The College Widow" is the big flare-up of burning buildings at the finish which furnished as dramatic an ending as the most ardent lover of realism could desire.

The audience is not held long in waiting for the story proper to begin. The plot of the tale deals with the rivalry between two middle west colleges. Atwater and Bingham, the latter having for several seasons bested the former at football. Dr. Witherpoon, president of Atwater, is supposed to be responsible for his college's defeat, he having insisted that a gentle game must be played. The president's daughter, Jane, known as the College Widow because of the number of lovers she attracts, casts loose with the students in convincing the doctor that they can only sustain Atwater college supremacy through molding out a winning football team. There comes a day when Billy Bolton, the great western halfback, arrives at Atwater with his father, a millionaire, for the purpose of obtaining a tutor who will squeeze him through his fourth freshman year so that he may claim to have spent four years in college. His father is a long-time patron of Bingham, and before leaving for a trip to Europe he leaves a check for $1,000 in his office as a bet that Atwater cannot beat Bingham in the Thanksgiving game. But the college widow induces Billy Bolton to resign from Bingham and become halfback for Atwater. Through Bolton's exertions, Atwater wins the game, and from thence arises a series of complications—love, fatherly vexation and other ingredients, which all go to the mixing up of an intensely dramatic climax.

The finale comes in a blast of lurid flames, when on the evening of a banquet destined to celebrate the victory of Atwater, the college building catches fire and the guests and collegians narrowly escape with their lives. The rescue of Jane, the College Widow, by her former lover from the burning building is thrilling in the extreme.

In producing the scene a big hotel was purchased and burned to the ground to get the actual effect, and so close to realism did the director go that Ethel Clayton, the Jane Witherpoon of the play, was almost suffocated with smoke by the time she was brought to terra firma.

REV. STREET OF PROVIDENT HEIGHTS CHURCH TAKES TEXT FROM 119TH PSALM.

CLED E. WALLACE PREACHES ON METHOD OF BECOMING ME-BER CHRISTIAN FAMILY.

"PERMANENCY" CRY OF THE AGE

REVIVAL IS NOW IN PROGRESS

Training for Service Declared Thing Most Needed by Church of Present Day.

Four Additions to Date at North Tenth Street Church of Christ Meeting.

Studying the scriptures in order to truly understand them was urged yesterday by Rev. H. H. Straet, pastor of the Provident Heights Baptist church, who took as his text, Psalms 119:11, "Thy Word Have I Hid in My Heart That I Might Not Sin Against Thee."

In part he spoke as follows: "So then, the word in the heart—or lack of it—has to do with man's sin against Jehovah. Effectually to plant the word in men's hearts is of major importance."

"The entrance of thy word giveth light," Enlightened men are the great power in civilization and Christianity.

"The people must be taught the word. God's people must be effectually taught in the word. The church must teach. A taught heart is a strong character. One well taught in the word is the effective man in the kingdom."

"A trained pastor is everywhere recognized as essential. But it is tragical to behold such pastor fettered by a people so untrained as to be unable to appreciate and follow."

"Permanency is a cry of the day. 'Pastoral changes' are responsible for much. And we all agree. And if that were all of it would be bad enough. But superintendents change sometimes, do they not? Officers and secretaries of the church, from pastor to care-taker, are a procession. Deacons are the exception. If you learn of one's resigning, please let me hear. How many of such changes are because of lack of knowledge?"

"This is a day of wonderful improvement in agriculture, etc., by means of teaching the better ways. By enlightenment. Hoary customs are broken up, and advanced results. O, the petrified religious habits and customs necessary to be broken up. And teaching is the only means. Such teaching has broken up ancient, established customs. Examples are on every hand."

"We have provided for training our preachers, and our missionaries. Do not all the servants of the churches need training for efficiency? A sexton is of very great worth in the kingdom. Ushers are mighty men. Every office needs to be well discharged. Much sinning against God can be prevented by teaching. (Let him who hears understand.)"

"How shall this be done? By whom? When shall it be done?"

"We, the church, here and now, must be engaged in it."

"Men learn to do by doing. The preacher must preach. The superintendent must superintend. The teacher must teach. The usher must usher."

"To study a scripture in order to teach it is a very different thing from studying that same simply to recite in the average class. To prepare to actively discharge the duties of an office, this coming Sunday, is different from feeling that some time in the indefinite future I shall likely have that office."

"To a soul well instructed in the word to engage in any work of the Kingdom of Christ is of serious importance. It is at bottom—that God be not sinned against."

"The church needs to lay actual responsibility upon specific hearts by putting them in and expecting of them. Thus we teach them to observe by practice."

"Given a generation of Christians, thus schooled and what may the world expect at their hands?"

A Word of Precaution.

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

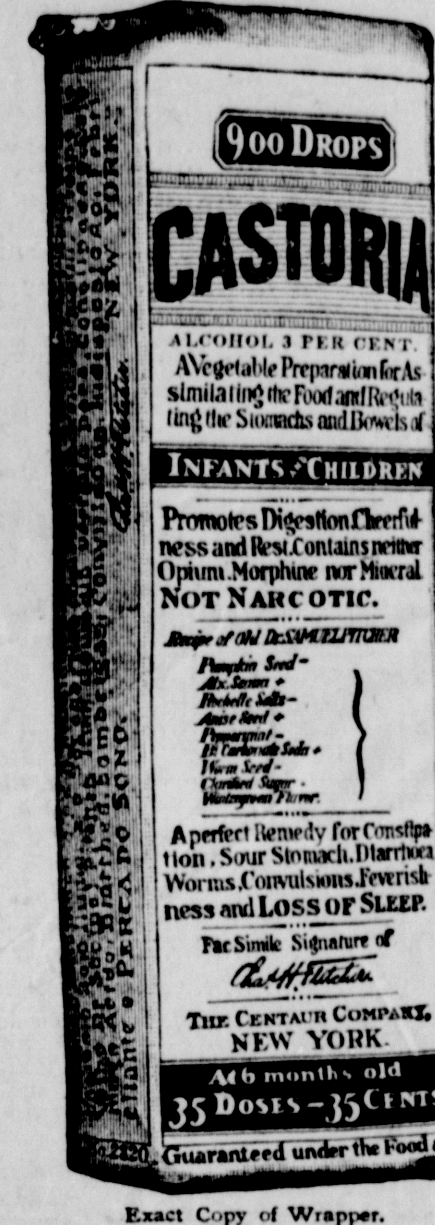

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about.

Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

S. J. Briggs & Co., of Providence, R. I., say: "We have sold Fletcher's Castoria in our three stores for the past twenty years and consider it one of the best preparations on the market."

Mansur Drug Co., of St. Paul, Minn., says: "We are not in the habit of recommending proprietary medicines, but we never hesitate to say a good word for Castoria. It is a medical success."

Hegeman & Co., of New York City, N. Y., say: "We can say for your Castoria that it is one of the best selling preparations in our stores. That is conclusive evidence that it is satisfactory to the users."

W. H. Chapman, of Montreal, Que., says: "I have sold Fletcher's Castoria for many years and have yet to hear of one word other than praise of its virtues. I look upon your preparation as one of the few so called patent medicines having merit and unhesitatingly recommend it as a safe household remedy."

THE OLDEST BANKER.

John Gardiner Was in Business 81 Years in One Place.

The oldest banker in the United States is dead. He was John Gardiner of Norwalk, Ohio. He had the honor not only of being the nation's oldest banker, but probably that of holding the world's record in continuous employment. He was born in 1815—the year of Waterloo and of the close of our second war with England. When he left Connecticut, where he was born, and went to Ohio the Indians still lived in that fertile country and there were many men who could tell vivid stories of the battle of Fallen Timbers and of other fights with the red men in which they took part. He was 17 years old when he got employment in a little bank that had been established in Norwalk. That bank, now the Norwalk National, still is in business. For 81 years he was part of it and for more than half a century its president. Until six months ago he never had missed attending the meeting of the directors.

Because he was a country banker all his life does not mean that he did not play a part in big affairs. He helped Salmon P. Chase, then secretary of the treasury, in organizing the first national bank in the United States. That was 53 years ago. Sixty-five years ago he was a railroad president. He organized, helped to build and was the first president of the Toledo, Norwalk and Cleveland railroad, now a portion of the New York Central system.

The bankers of America would honor themselves by raising a monument to John Gardiner. Incidentally any person who considers a sedentary occupation as not good for the health might ponder over this man's 81 years of indoor work and remember that at 99 he still was active and in harness. Commerce and Finance.

STORIES OF THE DAY.

His Career. (Cleveland Plain Dealer.) She was very romantic, and when she saw the scars on his face she jumped at conclusions. "I think I have discovered your secret," she softly said. "You are a Heidelberg duelist and likewise a German baron."

He shook his head gloomily. "I am not a baron," he said, "and I never heard of Heidelberg. I'm only a fellow student in the lobby of a hotel the other evening, when Congressman Charles A. Korbly, of Indiana, was reminded of an incident that happened in the middle west."

One afternoon a school teacher who was several pounds plumper than he, merely chubbily was instructing a class in physiology when she referred to the measurements of the human body. "Reliable," she said, "twice around my thumb, once around my wrist, twice around my wrist, once around my neck, twice around my neck, once around my waist."

Right here the teacher paused and glared at Willie Jones, who was blushing. "Willie Jones," peremptorily demanded the teacher, "what was it you said to Johnny Smith? Tell me this instant."

"I—I said," stammered Willie, "twice around your waist, once around the city hall."

DRAPE KAISER'S GIFT.

Harvard Students Commemorate the "Lusitania Massacre." (New York Times.)

Harvard's Brunswick lion, a gift from the German Kaiser, was found this morning draped in mourning. A large sheet was wound around the statue, which stands in front of the German museum, the edges of the sheet being black. Two inscriptions were scrawled on the covering in large bold letters. One of them read: "One hundred and forty-seven corpses. Another gift from the Kaiser."

The other was: "In memory of the Lusitania massacre, and was signed 'Humanity.'"

The draping was said to be the work of undergraduates as a protest against Germany's submarine activity.

WACO WITHOUT GAS FOR PORTION OF DAY

PRESSURE IN MEXIA FIELD DIES
DOWN, RUSHES ON, SPLITS
ELBOW AT BRIDGE.

FLOW OFF ABOUT THREE HOURS

Texas Power and Light Company
Other End of Line.

Waco was without natural gas for about three hours yesterday afternoon and the pressure was low for much of the remainder of the day, but the defect was at the Mexia end of the line and not here in Waco.

Officials of the Texas Power and Light company say the pressure in the Mexia field died down about 9 o'clock Saturday night and remained low throughout the night. About 9 o'clock Sunday morning the gas came into the big pipe line leading from Mexia to Waco with such pressure that the big regulator at the city limits in East Waco failed to check the rush and it was a severe test on the regulator of Texas Power and Light company on the west bank of the Brazos river. This regulator held but the force of the high pressure was such as to split an elbow of the big pipe line on the Cotton Belt bridge across the Brazos river.

It was deemed inadvisable for trains to cross the bridge while the pipe was in that condition and several of the were detained via the Katy bridge. A number of high pressure gauges on the line were blown out and it is not known just how high the pressure really was but Manager F. L. Booth is assured that it was very high. The normal pressure is 70 pounds.

As soon as the accident became known the distributing lines in the city were connected with the natural gas holders of the Texas Power and Light company, but the supply in these was not very large, but most of the customers of the company managed to get along without serious inconvenience until the big pipe line had been repaired and the main flow of gas was turned into the city mains again just before 7 o'clock last night. F. L. Booth, W. S. Rathwell and other officials and employees of the Texas Power and Light company got busy as soon as the blow out occurred shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning and worked incessantly until the repairs had been made and gas was flowing freely again. The supply of gas in the holders was sufficient to permit Waco housewives to prepare their Sunday dinners and many did not know of the shortage until late in the afternoon when they attempted to cook supper. The work of welding the big elbow where the break occurred was a considerable task but it was accomplished late in the afternoon and no further trouble is anticipated.

Fort Worth Without Gas.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 6.—For the second time in months Fort Worth is undergoing a gas famine, heavy rains northwest of here having washed out sections of the natural gas main which supplies the city with fuel and light from the Petrolia fields. The break occurred between Sunset and Alford Sunday morning and before noon all gas in the city mains had been exhausted. The Lone Star Gas company ny owners of the main supplying both Fort Worth and Dallas say repairs probably will be complete Monday. Householders were forced to revert to primal methods of preparing their Sunday dinners and restaurants using coal fuel did a thriving business. Newspaper plants have been inconvenienced but slightly and local industries dependent upon gas for motive power are expected to be supplied Monday with only a brief loss of time. Flood conditions in the northwest are reported by the gas company as worse than in April when the city was without gas for four days but advance preparations are expected to facilitate the repair work.

The gas supply at Dallas also was cut off by the break in the line.

HOW COUNTIES MAY ESTABLISH LIBRARIES

NEW STATE LAW IS FULLY EX-PLAINED IN RECENT ISSUE OF
"TEXAS LIBRARIES."

MANY ACTIVITIES REPORTED

Several Articles Tell of Events in Waco and McLennan County Communities.

Three new public libraries have started in Texas so far in 1915, according to the last issue of Texas Libraries, and efforts to secure library buildings are being made in four more. A free library has been started at Bay City and subscription libraries at Lorraine and Manor. The four cities either erecting or trying to secure buildings are Jacksonville, Frantitas, Plainview and Vernon. Just at present considerable attention is being paid to the new county library law, under the provisions of which any county may secure a free library.

The new bill provides four ways in which library privileges may be secured, a separate county free library may be established at the county seat, any incorporated city or town maintaining a library may become a part of the county free library system, a county free library of one county may extend its privileges to another county that has no county library, or a free public library of any incorporated town or city may assume the functions of a county library.

It is incumbent on the county commissioners' court to order an election when petitioned by 25 per cent or more of the qualified voters of the part of the county affected. If a two-thirds vote is favorable to the proposition, it then becomes the duty of the commissioners' court to establish and provide for the maintenance of a county free library. For a maintenance fund, a tax of not to exceed six mills on the $100 valuation must be levied on all property outside of incorporated cities and towns maintaining free public libraries and upon such property in such cities or towns which decide to become a part of the county library system.

The law provides that the board to take charge of the library shall consist of three members, including the county superintendent and two other members to be appointed by the commissioners' court. They are to serve four years without pay. The board is to submit a list of names to the commissioners' court, which is to appoint a librarian from them. The librarian's term is four years, the salary to be determined by the court.

Branch libraries and stations may be established in towns and rural schools of the county, and where farmers' county libraries have been inaugurated they shall continue to operate until the county library is established.

"Texas Libraries" contains news notes covering public library activities in 55 towns and cities of the state. Articles are carried regarding library activities in Midway and Crawford and there are several items in regard to the Waco public library, which is admittedly one of the most efficient in the state.

Little Girl Lost Wanders from Cameron to Oakwood

From Cameron park to Oakwood cemetery isn't such a long journey for a grown-up, but when a little girl is "lost," it seems a long way and a very scary one. P. M. Ammerman, sexton at the cemetery, found her about 9 o'clock last night. Mr. Ammerman telephoned the city hall, and the whole city force stopped the search for her which had been going on for an hour. The big police automobile went out to Oakwood and took the little girl back to her big brother and sister, who with several hundred others were still scouring the woods and gullies in Cameron park, and every now and then looking fearfully at the yellow Brazos slipping by so secretly.

Mildred, who is only five, came to town with her older brother and sister yesterday afternoon to hear the concert at the park. The child drove live with their parents two miles out on the Springfield road. While they were playing about the chutes and swings in the park playground the "lostest" girl became separated from the others. She couldn't find her brother and sister, so she started for home all by herself. She went down fourth street and right out to Oakwood where Sexton Ammerman found her crying. She wouldn't tell the sexton her name, but Mr. Ammerman surmised she was lost and knew the police would be looking for her, so he telephoned the city hall.

L. D. Gordon, 2004 North Fourth street, saw the little girl pass his home about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, one shoe off and in her hand, her didn't think much about it, until later he heard that a little girl had been lost in the park. Mr. Gordon telephoned the occurrence to the police, and from this clue the officers were searching for her in town, when news came from Oakwood that she had been found there.

WACO TYPOGRAPHICAL NOMINATES OFFICERS

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED ON THE DEATH OF W. J. STILLWELL,
PRESIDENT OF UNION.

Encouraging Reports Received From Various Printing Establishments
as to State of Trade.

Waco Typographical union met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon at the Labor hall. Business was dispatched with a rush in order to allow the members to attend the Waco-Dallas game. Printers are nothing if not loyal fans.

Two new members were received, Harry W. Baker and Norville R. James.

A report from the Morning News chapel showed that that chapel had installed individual drinking cups for all members, thus removing all danger of communicating disease by way of the common cup. Different chapels reported the condition of business slightly improved.

Nominations for officers for the next six months resulted as follows, election to be had in July:
President, W. C. Lowry; vice president, O. T. Grove; financial secretary, J. C. Hill; recording secretary-treasurer, Louis H. Hicks; sergeant-at-arms, Ralph A. Byrd; reading clerk, J. W. Wright; executive committee, Ira L. Hicks, J. B. Dismukes, C. E. James; auditing committee, H. C. Ethridge, John R. Spencer, H. H. Boone; delegates to Central Labor Council, J. C. Hill, C. D. Carley, W. R. Noble.

The following resolutions were adopted on the death of W. J. Stillwell, who was president of the union at the time of his death:
Whereas, an All-Wise Providence did, on May 26, 1915, remove from our midst Brother W. J. Stillwell; and
Whereas, Brother Stillwell had been a member of Waco Typographical union about five years, and during that time had held many offices in the union, having represented said union a number of times as delegate to the Texas State Printers' council, and was the time of his death president of our local union; therefore be it

Resolved, by Waco Typographical Union No. 188, in regular session on this, the 6th day of June, 1915, that this, the death of Brother Stillwell, was untimely, coming in the prime of his manhood. His faithfulness to the duties imposed on him by our union was constant, and no duty was ever declined that it was possible for him to perform. His actions were always cheerful, and he never displayed aught of bitterness or rancor toward his fellow printers. His ready smile for every one was ever a reminder of his kindly nature.

Resolved further, That the members of Waco Typographical union tend to the surviving widow and relatives of our heartfelt sympathy in his death; and would direct them to seek comfort from the All-Wise One whose actions are unerring and whose love is unfailing.

Resolved further, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our union, copies furnished to the Texas State Printers' council, and would direct them to seek comfort from the All-Wise One whose actions are unerring and whose love is unfailing.

Temple Rodef Sholem Sunday School Has Pleasant Outing

Shouts of happy children at play echoed over Day's Lake yesterday while equally pleased parents sat around and talked and smiled, the occasion being the annual outing of the Sunday school of Rodef Sholem. Between forty and fifty members of the school went out on the special interurban car at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and a good many more came out during the day.

Various games enlivened the day for the younger people and all present partook of delightful refreshments. The picnickers returned late last evening, each of them voting the outing a success from every standpoint.

Auto Stolen Here Found in Galveston With Houston Tag

The automobile belonging to Dr. Louis Roddy, which was stolen from in front of the Amicable building last Thursday afternoon was located in Galveston yesterday by police. The license number of the car had been changed to a Houston number, but it was identified by surgical instruments left in the machine by Dr. Roddy.

When search in the city failed to find the stolen automobile, police here wired descriptions to other cities. The Galveston police, acting on the wire from Chief McNamara here, found the car. No arrests were made as the car was empty when found and no one appeared to claim it.
